M1100/1200 – 1 System, 3 Elevation Techniques

Perfect technology meets classic, elegant design: With the M1100/1200 series Merkt has redefined the highly flexible, multi-purpose workstation. One factor that sets this system apart is the elegance it offers while ensuring high stability. Flexibility is another outstanding feature: with its low-noise and rapid electric height adjustment the M1100/1200 more than meets all demands for high user-friendliness and convincing ergonomics. It takes just a few seconds to transform the workstation from a sitting to standing use even when the table top is carrying a heavy load (up to 70 kg). Safety devices ensure that this process is safe and reliable, high-grade electric components ensure that the system operates without hitches and at a low cost.

Manual height adjustment covers an adjustment range from 650 to 850 mm in 20 mm increments by means of grid-based locking.

Hand crank operation offers infinite adjustment ranging from 680 mm to 1180 mm (single telescope). Additional loading up to 25 kg is possible.

Electrical height adjustment offers a range between 650 and 1300 mm (optionally with a 500 mm range). The elevation is performed using two extremely quiet electric motors. Operation is via a control positioned on the front edge of the table top.

If required, a steering module with storage function is also available, which calls up the working heights of various people at the touch of a button, and makes the adjustment automatically. Up to four work settings can be pre-programmed.
