M700 R

Sturdy or Even Sturdier

The Merkt table system boasts two construction versions, enabling you to exactly meet your personal requirement with regard to cost-effectiveness and sturdiness:

The M700 P can be completely dismantled and, with its sturdy horizontal profiles is superbly equipped for most purposes. The use of profile makes this version particularly economical.

The M700 R is just as easy to dismantle. Instead of profiles the M700 R also boasts tubular cross bars in the horizontal. For an even higher-quality construction and particularly heavy-duty purposes.

With regard to design, both series are available in the entire range.

Bench solutions

Our systems can also be realized in bench formats - optimizing the use of space.

Special sizes

For special lengths of the M700R there are hand lever presses available, with which frame lengths to suit specific objects can be made on site.

"Invisible" corner screw joints ensure the frames, which can be disassembled, are extremely sturdy.

The Merkt 700 table system is also available as a particularly economical package unit.
